Re: Vice President, Sales Executive — Anthropic

With 15 years of enterprise sales leadership in the Technology, Media, and Telecom sector and a proven record of selling complex, multi-year technical solutions to C-suite buyers, I am eager to bring my consultative sales expertise to Deloitte's Anthropic practice. Selling AI-powered solutions to enterprise clients requires the same discipline I have built my career on: deep technical discovery, translating architecture into business value, and managing long, multi-stakeholder sales cycles to close.

In my current role as Sales Manager at Spectrum Business Services, I lead a team of Enterprise Account Executives selling connectivity, managed network, cloud, and voice solutions to mid-market and multi-location business customers. I develop go-to-market strategy across my territory, cultivate targeted prospect lists, and drive net-new pipeline through direct outreach and partner channel relationships. I run disciplined forecast cadences and weekly deal strategy reviews that consistently improve pipeline accuracy and quota attainment. This is the same sales motion your Anthropic practice needs: identifying high-value accounts, building executive relationships, and orchestrating complex pursuits through to close.

Previously, as a Technical Sales Consultant for Unified Communications at Spectrum Enterprise, I served as the primary subject matter expert translating complex IP-based solutions into measurable business outcomes for enterprise buyers. I delivered executive-level presentations to CTOs and IT directors, built trusted advisor relationships that positioned me ahead of competitors, and accelerated deal velocity by removing technical uncertainty from the buying process. Before that, as a Client Solutions Executive at AT&T, I managed a $9.5M portfolio of government, education, and healthcare accounts and earned the Diamond Club Award as the Top 1% of national sales performers. I have deep relationships across the Technology/Media/Telecom and Government & Public Services verticals that your role specifically targets.

I bring strong familiarity with AI tools and platforms, I am comfortable navigating ambiguity in large matrixed organizations, and I am based in Atlanta with full availability for the 30-40% travel this role requires. I would welcome the opportunity to discuss how my enterprise sales leadership, technical credibility, and TMT network can drive pipeline and revenue growth for Deloitte's Anthropic practice.

Sincerely,
