Headway

Re: Remote Licensed Psychiatrist

As a board-trained psychiatrist who has built and operated my own private practice since 2023 while simultaneously serving as an emergency psychiatrist at Grady Memorial Hospital and outpatient psychiatrist at Dekalb Community Service Board, I understand firsthand the administrative burden that prevents clinicians from focusing on patient care. Headway's mission to make mental healthcare accessible by handling credentialing, billing, and insurance infrastructure resonates directly with my clinical experience across insured and uninsured populations.

I completed my psychiatry residency at Emory University, where I served as Outpatient Psychiatry Chief Resident and received the Resident Recognition Award. My training spans the full spectrum of psychiatric care: acute crisis management and consultation-liaison at Grady (Atlanta's Level 1 trauma center), long-term psychotherapy through the Emory Psychoanalytic Institute, and medication management for patients with serious mental illness at a community service board. I am actively licensed in both Georgia and California, positioning me to serve patients across multiple states through Headway's remote platform.

What distinguishes my practice is the integration of psychotherapy and psychopharmacology. My psychoanalytic training enables me to offer patients a depth of treatment that goes beyond prescribing, which aligns with Headway's vision of comprehensive mental healthcare. I have also contributed to psychiatric research across five institutions, including UCLA, USC Keck, Children's Hospital Los Angeles, and the University of Heidelberg, giving me an evidence-based foundation that informs every clinical decision.

I would welcome the opportunity to discuss how my dual-state licensure, full-spectrum clinical experience, and commitment to accessible care can contribute to Headway's growing provider network.

Sincerely,

Paulina Kaiser, MD
